To the Insuring Public.
Having had a loss under policy No. 137,768 of Home Insurance Co. of New York, Jesse D. Wearen, Agent, Stanford, Ky., I am prepared to recommend the above company to you and tell you for prompt and liberal settlements of losses there is none better and I dare say few as good. They do not deduct one fourth from your policy, as some would have you believe, but willingly and cheerfully pay you the indemnity that you pay them for. Beware of Mutual or Assessment companies. For further particulars in regard to Mutual or Assessment Companies, address me. M. Green Murphy, Kingsville, Ky.

Local Notes.

Strawberries are not overly plentiful this year, but are sweet and delightful.

Several subscribers sent in their dues during the past week, for which we are very thankful. We are, of course, always thankful but just a little more so when unable to work.

Streets Sprinkled.

The new sprinkler has arrived and is doing splendid work. It is of the latest pattern and quite a sight to see. J. W. Sweeney has the contract, and the money is made up by voluntary subscriptions of the business men.

The fire alarm, about eight o'clock Monday evening, was caused by the burning of J. M. Logan's stable. Although the entire loft of hay and roof were burning fiercely, one line of hose quickly extinguished the flames. It is not known how the fire originated.

Handsome Work.

The illustrated supplement, just issued by the Richmond Climax, is a very handsome and complete job of work. The write-up of the town and county is full of interesting matter, while the pictorial work is perfect in every detail. The work was done by Mr. Jos. B. Borders, who was in this city for several weeks.

Decoration Sunday.

The Knights of Pythias will hold their annual decoration of graves next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock and Bro. F. M. Tindler will preach the sermon. At the conclusion of these services the Knights will proceed to the cemetery where designs will be placed on the graves of the departed brothers.

Back On His Run.

The many friends of Engineer Henry Lammers, who pulls the day trains were very glad to see him back at his post of duty. As stated at the time, Mr. Lammers injured his eye some weeks ago and has been compelled to lay off. He is all right again, we are glad to say. He is not only a clever gentleman, but one of the most careful engineers on the road.

Business Deal.

James A. Jones has purchased of J. T. Williams the latter's business house and residence, on depot street, together with the coal business, price $4,500 cash. The house was built by Mr. Williams only a short time since. The business will be continued by Mr. Jones, who will keep a stock of the best coal constantly on hand. Mr. Williams will likely move West. He has made many friends in Lancaster, who wish him unbounded success where ever he may go.

Sunday School Convention.

The Garrard County Sunday School Convention convened at the Presbyterian church, in Lancaster, Saturday morning and an all-day session was held. The program was well arranged and very enjoyable and beneficial. Dinner was served at noon. Nearly every school in the county was represented and all entered into the exercises with an earnestness which bespoke the interest now being taken in Sunday School work, which is by far the most important training children can have.

Study The Picture.

In this issue we present the second of the series of cartoons we are running in an endeavor to convince the Lancaster people that they should spend their money with the people from whom they make it and upon whom they are dependent for a living. If you will look at these cartoons carefully, you cannot fail to see where our contention is right. In plain words, if your money is too good to spend in Lancaster, for pity's sake move out and make room for people who are unselfish and will help the town.

To The Council.

The town was never in a filthier condition. The council certainly can have the streets and alleys cleaned. The treasury has been hit pretty hard, its true, but the town could take in washing, sell its dog or open a tiger long enough to secure enough funds with which to protect the health of the community. Fine a few people for piling ashes and other trash on the streets and there will not be need of so much cleaning. Take up a few vagrants, both white and black, and put them to work with shovel and cart. This is a very serious matter and should be attended to.

Handsomely Entertained.

The Lancaster Knights Templar who were fortunate enough to attend the Conclave at Richmond last week, have not yet ceased talking of the royal reception they were given by the people of that good town. It turned out just as The Record said it would, they were made to feel at home, they were fed on the fat of the land, and each visitor made to feel that he was the favored one among the entire assemblage. The people of Richmond never "divide their last loaf" with visitors—they simply give you the whole thing, and if there is any left then they think of self. We have had the pleasure of spending much time in Richmond, and it is one of the few towns where you feel perfectly at home as soon as you set your brogan within its limits.

To Our Patrons.

We wish to call the attention of our patrons to the fact that we have thoroughly competent help in The Record office and can turn out as good printing as can be done anywhere. As we guarantee perfect satisfaction, we trust our friends will remember us when needing printing of any kind.

First Big Show Coming.

Put your business cards aside for one day and make the advent of the Great Van Amburg Show a holiday. The only big show coming this year, coming on its special trains and will pitch its tents in Lancaster on Thursday, June 15th. Don't fail to see the grand street parade in the forenoon.

Delightful Evening For M. D's.

The Garrard County Medical Society met with Dr. B. Burnett and Amos Friday evening. The hosts have just had their offices papered, painted and fitted throughout with the latest style furniture, and they celebrated the event by giving a handsome supper to their brother physicians. The spread was prepared under the skillful direction of Messadams Burnett and Amos, and was greatly enjoyed. Potted plants and cut flowers added beauty to the inviting rooms.

The Editor in Distress.

Notwithstanding the fact that we have been off our feet for more than four weeks, the wounds on our leg have healed very little and we are unable to work. We dislike to tell our troubles through the columns of The Record, yet the subscribers are entitled to an explanation for lack of reading matter, and this is our only method of giving it. By the aid of an expert stenographer and a faithful office force, we are keeping soul and body together, however, and hope to be back in our tread-mill before many days.

Good Darkey Killed.

Will Merritt, one of the hardest-working and most deserving colored men in Lancaster, was shot on Battle Row by Stewart Humber. The shooting took place Friday but Merritt lingered until Monday. Merritt was returning from his work on Mr. Victor Lear's farm, and stopped and spoke to Humber's wife, when Humber attacked him. We understand Humber has a bad case on his hands. Merritt was a peacable, energetic man, kept in his place and was a faithful hand. He leaves a widow and several children. Humber is in jail.

Republican Committee.

The republican committee will meet at the court house next Saturday afternoon to discuss the question of naming a full ticket for county offices. As Mr. John M. Duncan has consented to make race for county judge, it is a fore gone conclusion that he will be nominated by a unanimous vote, but we have heard there is a strong probability that no other nominations will be made. Mr. Joe S. Haselden has announced as a candidate for county attorney and he may be placed on the ticket, as he is very anxious to make the race. We have heard of no other candidates, but there is no telling who will shy their castors ere time of committee meeting.

City of White Tents.

When the numerous big tents of the Great Van Amburg Show are pitched upon the show ground, it makes a city of white tents, all of which are filled with greatest attractions which money in the hands of experienced agents can secure. In the cages are to be seen the wild animals from the jungles of Asia, in the side show annex the freaks and curious people from all parts of the globe, and in the big tent the finest performers and funniest clowns that ever graced the saw dust arena. Don't forget the great free street parade in the forenoon. The show will give two performances in Lancaster, on Thursday, June 15th, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. See the large bills.

All Details Complete.

After spending many weeks in adjusting and testing the hemp break machine, the Universal Fiber Co., stored the machine Tuesday and Mr. A. M. Shely and the machinists returned to Chicago. They succeeded in getting every detail complete and the adjustment was so satisfactory that an order has now been placed for quite a number of the machines and they will be ready to handle this year's crop. As stated in The Record, orders for manufacture of more machines could not be placed until all minor defects were removed. The machine is complete, it is a thorough success and the farmers may put in all the hemp they can cultivate and not be worried with the problem of getting it broken. Since the machine has been in Lancaster, prominent men from all over the country have been here to see it, and Garrard county has been given an advertisement greater than she would have ever received in any other way. Samples of broken hemp have been sent to nearly every prominent factory in the United States, and you may mark our prediction the demand for Garrard county hemp will be greater this Fall than it was ever known to be. Mr. Shely tells The Record the machine left here will be used on this year's crop, and, if necessary, an additional one will be sent here.

BRYANTSVILLE.

Mr. J. M. Smith spent Sunday in Bryantville.

Miss Elizabeth Pettus is at home after attending school in Somerset.

Miss Reed, of Caldwell College, has been visiting Miss Anna Kay Jenkins. Miss Mattie Mae and Lillian Leavelle have gone to Lexington to visit friends.

Miss Katie Moore will leave in a few days for an extended visit to relatives in Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nevius and Miss Ann Hill were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Burdett Sunday.

There will be preaching at the Methodist church Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. W. D. Welburn.

Miss Eliza Ison closed a very successful school last Friday at the school house in Bright's Bend.

Messrs. Ray King, Robert Rout, Tom Chesnut and Bob Moore spent Sunday in Nicholasville.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess, of Indiana, have been visiting their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Burgess.

Misses Mattie Dean and Daisy Collier were the charming guests of Mrs. Taylor Burdett the past week.

Miss Albie Dunn has returned home from Lexington. Miss Dunn was one of the faculty of Hamilton College.

Miss Mamie Lee Ballard returned home Saturday after a very pleasant visit to friends and relatives in Lexington.

Quite a large crowd attended the strawberry supper at Pleasant Grove Monday evening. About $35 was realized.

Mrs. James Burnside was in Millersburg this week to attend commencement and see her daughter, Miss Jennie, graduate.

Mrs. Mary Stedman is daily receiving new millinery and is making some beautiful mid summer hats. Call and see them. Prices very reasonable.

Mrs. Eliza Ballard and daughter, Miss Mamie, expect to go to Cincinnati in a few days for a visit to Master Bryan Ballard, who is attending school there.

Mr. Ray King attended the commencement exercises of Campbell-Hagerman College, Lexington. His sister, Miss Virginia King was one of the graduates.

Mrs. Cyrus Eason gave her husband a very pleasant surprise by having several relatives come in and spend the day with him last Thursday, it being his birthday.

Miss Rebecca Williams and brother, and Willie Cox and sister, of your city spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Eason at their country home near Bryantville.

Mr. Hugh Tomlinson, one of our most popular young men, is a member of the Graduating Class at State College this year. He has accepted a position in the East.

Mr. Hogan Ballard will come home in a few days from Lexington, where he has been a student at State College for the past year. He was initiated into the S. A. E. fraternity last Saturday evening.

It is reported that Dr. J. H. Durham will leave our town about the first of July. He has been here for some time and has a splendid practice and it will be with regret that we give him up. He will be missed socially as well as in his profession. This will be a splendid opening for some good physician.

Resolutions.

Since God in His goodness has permitted us to assemble in this convention we do pledge ourselves to renewed consecration and better work for the coming year in the following resolutions:

Resolved: That since we know if we raise a generation of men and women well instructed and intelligent on the subject of Temperance that a mighty step has been taken toward victory; so we earnestly urge our W. C. T. U. women to do all in their power to organize and maintain Loyal Temperance Leagues; that we show our increased sympathy and interest in their work.

Resolved: That we lend all possible aid in our homes and community to every effort put forth to keep a holy Sabbath day free from labor and unseemly social pleasure.

Resolved: That we will endeavor to stand firmer for the cause we represent; that we will cherish the badge we wear since it is the emblem of purity and that we rejoice in the honor and esteem in which the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is held throughout the world.

Resolved: That thanks are due and are hereby tendered to, for the use of a most comfortable church; to the members and pastors of all churches for kind words and other help; to the local union for the interest it has manifested; to the choir and organist for music; to the press for notices; to Mrs. Lackey for beautiful decorations; to all who have given their services and especially to the good housewives of Lancaster, who have so delightfully entertained us at the lunch hour.

Resolved: That all such comings together are helpful and are an inspiration for better and more efficient service to mankind, which we do most humbly in the name and for the sake of our Heavenly Father.

A STOCK FAIR.

Lancaster Business Men Have Organized and Will Hold Fair In July.

A number of Lancaster and Garrard county business men and stock dealers met Monday and determined to hold a two days fair in July, the dates probably being the 13th and 14th. Wm. B. Barton was elected president, H. T. Logan vice president and Robt. L. Davidson secretary. It was decided to have no treasurer, placing the money in the Citizens National Bank to be paid out on order of secretary and officers. The fair will be held in the beautiful woodland of Mr. Jno. M. Farra directly opposite the residence of Mr. R. L. Elkin, on Stanford pike. Nearly all the stock has been subscribed and a special committee is now at work soliciting special premiums, etc. Copy for the catalogues will be ready in a short time, and the fair will be advertised thoroughly. Garrard county always made a success of her fairs, and, as young, energetic men have charge of this one, it is bound to be a success in every particular.

Laid to Rest.

The remains of Rev. Robert R. West arrived in this city Thursday night and were placed in the vault at the Lancaster Cemetery. The following afternoon, at three o'clock, an immense crowd of friends of the family gathered about the grave to pay the last sad tribute to friend and brother, whose life had been snuffed out while so far from family, friends, and, we may say, acquaintances. Rev. C. S. Ellis, of the Baptist church, conducted the services, at the close of which the Lancaster Masonic Lodge took charge and went through with their beautiful work. As stated in The Record when announcing the death, no family have ever received more words of comfort, nor more sympathy in a death than has Mr. and Mrs. John K. West, the venerable parents of the deceased. The remains were accompanied from Washington by Mrs. West and son, William.

Home vs. Outside Industries.

Should home town industries be protected?
Are opera houses, high schools, hotels, public libraries, churches, doctors, etc., desirable in your immediate neighborhood?
What is the opera house for? For public gatherings and entertainments. Good entertainments cost money. Destroy the home town industries and the home town spirit languishes and dies. With the town gone the people go.
Who will then pay for first class public entertainments?
Who will then support the high school?
Who will patronize first class hotels?
Who will keep up the churches?
What first class preacher or doctor will come to a dead town? They will go where the people are.

Where are the people going? To large cities. Why? Because too many persons are sending their money to the large cities. When money goes to large cities, the good teachers, good preachers, good doctors follow to get the money your money. The result will be poor teachers in your home schools, poor preachers in your churches, doctors that you are afraid to employ, druggists who can't fill a prescription safely.
Can you expect first class professional men to remain in your locality when you send your money to the city? No!
When you patronize mail order houses you play into the city plutocrat's purse. How? By killing home industries, driving skillful doctors and teachers to the city because they can't afford to stay with you.

You deprive your children of good teachers, your wife and daughters of social life, your entire family of good medical service and religious opportunity, turning over all these benefits to the city man. Is the city man better than you? Is he to have entertainments and expert professional service and you to take what's left?
Buy at home and keep your money in your home town. Unless you do you will soon have no town, no respectable schools, no churches no social pleasures. Just humdrum routine, like horses and cows.

The excessive use of tobacco is said to injure the hearing. You will have to speak very loud to impress this fact upon the habitual users of the weed. They would rather go stone deaf than forego the delightful sensations of nicotine.

King Edward, of England, is a clock fancier. He has a collection numbering 2,000. He ought to be able to keep his numerous appointments to entertainments and other functions. He certainly ought to know the value of time.

Resolutions.

At a called meeting of Camp M. D. Logan held at the Secretary's office in the Court House in the town of Lancaster, Kentucky, the following resolutions were adopted on the death of Thomas Jefferson Hatcher:

On the 1st day of May 1905 Comrade Thomas Jefferson Hatcher of M. D. Logan Camp No 1336 was suddenly stricken by death in the 64 year of his age. Comrade Hatcher was a native of North Carolina and during his early manhood in common with thousands of young men of the South he gave his heart and his hand and offered his life as a sacrifice for the land he loved so well. He participated, fighting gallantly under the celebrated Stonewall Jackson in all of the important battles of the armies of Virginia and was in one of the regiments composing the command which came so near capturing Little Round Top at the great battle of Gettysburg.

At one time he was offered the captaincy of his company but declined the position and continued to fight in the ranks until the close of the war surrendering with Gen Lee's Army at Appomattox. He was always faithful and true to the cause, courageous and ready at all times. After the close of the war he settled first in Somerset, Ky., thence removed to Monticello from there to Stanford and had been residing in Lancaster for about ten years. Comrade Hatcher was a quiet, modest citizen of great industry, finally dying at his post of duty and was well beloved by our citizens. Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Comrade Hatcher.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be published in the Central Record of Lancaster, The Interior Journal of Stanford and that a copy be delivered to the family of the deceased and that same be spread on the records of this our camp.

FARM AND GARDEN

FOR LOVERS OF FLOWERS.

A Scientific Little Arrangement for Keeping Growing Plants Supplied with Moisture.

An effective, but simple, apparatus for keeping growing plants supplied with moisture may be easily contrived. This is particularly useful in cases where, owing to the absence of their owner or others, plants have for days, perhaps weeks, to be left without personal attention.

Nearly fill a large bowl with water, and place it upon a small table. At the foot of the table the plants to be supplied with water should be grouped, as our picture shows. For each plant take a length of worsted, at one end of which a small stone, or anything that will act as a weight. Soak the worsted in the water, and then, leaving at the bottom of the bowl the end to which the weight is attached, let the other end of the length of worsted hang down over the bowl's edge. Particularly, however, take care that the end of the worsted hanging outside comes lower than the bottom of the bowl.

Doing this, you have in reality constructed a siphon, and as long as there is water in the bowl it will, by traveling in the length of worsted that is inside the bowl—see dotted lines—and then down the hanging portion outside, slowly drip upon the plants below.

To be sure that all is in working order. It is well to set the appliance working, say, the day before leaving it. And, of course, the greater the volume of water existing in the bowl, and the fewer the lengths of worsted trailing from it, the longer the supply of water will last. —Cassell's Saturday Journal.

FALL PLOWING.

Opinion That It Tends to Rob the Land of Much of Its Fertility.

The fall-breaking question must be settled by every farmer to suit his own conditions, but we think it safe to lay down the general principle that fall-breaking tends to rob the land of much of its fertility, says the Farmers' Voice. The Rothamsted and other experiments have proved conclusively that the bare soil loses a great deal of nitrogen during the wet weather of winter and early spring, while unbroken land, that is even sparsely covered with any green crop, loses an inappreciable amount. This loss is not so easily detected on our rich prairie soils, nor is it so great where the land is hard frozen for long periods, but the question is, can we afford to lose any of that element of fertility that costs us 15 cents per pound to restore?

If we thought that we must break our lands very deeply, we would be very much inclined to do the work in the fall, early enough to permit of a seeding of wheat or rye. We would do this deep breaking preferably in the fall, so as to allow the frosts to help reestablish the connection between the upper and the subsoil, as regards water supply, and would sow the grain to preserve the nitrogen in the soil and would harrow or disk it under in spring.

As we come better to understand the problems connected with agriculture, we find that we have, in the past, done many things that were entirely unnecessary to the making of a good crop. Some of the best farmers, who grow corn after corn on very rich lands, have abandoned the practice of "breaking," as the term is understood, to mean turning the soil with a plow, and merely disk and harrow the surface in the spring a few days before planting. In private experiments we have found this to be preferable to breaking the land with share and mold board plow.

A DISH DRAINER.

Device Which Is Simple of Construction, But a Great Convenience.

A dish drainer which will hold all the dishes is of great convenience. Such a one is shown in the accompanying drawing. It is made of a frame of boards the size of the sink, on the under side of which is tacked firmly fine wire netting. The drain is placed upon the sink and the dishes placed bottom side up upon the netting. In this way they will dry quickly and you will not be obliged to wipe them.—Farm and Home.

"You-All."

Our Northern neighbors never tire of criticizing Kentuckians—in a good natured manner—for using the expression "you-all," instead of the plural "you." There are Kentuckians, perhaps, who have succeeded in overcoming it, but no true Kentuckian should wish to eliminate this provincialism for the betterment of his English.

"You-all" is an expression which comes not from the grammar, but from the heart. The grammarian tells us that "you" is singular and "you" is plural, but when such a little word is used in a plural sense there is always the possibility that some one will misconstrue the meaning. Because of this our Connecticut friends say, "you folks" or "you people," and some Westerners say, "you fellows." Nearly everyone employs a provincialism rather than say "you" when addressing himself to more than one person. Certainly "you all" is not less euphonious and is much more comprehensive than "you people" or "you folks" or "you fellows."

"I want you all to come to dinner," or "I shall open a keg of nails in a few minutes, and I want you all to be present," conveys the meaning which a truly hospitable person wishes to convey. "I want you to take a drink with me" might be misunderstood, notwithstanding the natural inclination of the thirsty to consider themselves included in all invitations.

The Kentuckian says "you" when he wishes the girl to understand that so far as he is concerned, the population of the earth is composed of one girl, one man and 'steven million persons who do not count. This use of the word is sufficient to make it strictly singular.

When the Kentuckian wants everyone to participate in a celebration he "wants you all to come," and he makes no apology to critics of his English.

Excluded Three Dollars

As its offshoot, respect to the Confederate Veterans Reunion, the Henderson Route is distributing a beautiful three color print, entitled, "The Man in Gray," which is receiving widespread admiration throughout the entire South.

The picture which is printed from an extra fine etching, reproduced from an original drawing by Mr. Robert M. Hoce, the celebrated artist of the Louisville Courier Journal, is 16x22 inches, and is printed on the enameled paper, sufficiently heavy for the unframed, but equally suitable for framing.

It is executed in the three cardinal colors of the Confederacy—gray, blue and red—on a white background, and has been rightly termed by critics "a gem."

They are enclosed in strawboard mailing tubes for safe transmission by mail, thus avoiding any possibility of breakage and insuring safe delivery.

Send five (red) stamps to L. J. Irwin, Louisville, Ky., for this beautiful reproduction, and after you receive it, whether you are from the North or out of the South, you will be an enthusiastic admirer of the "Hero of the Gray."

Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at McRobert's Drug Store, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

It looks very much like the elements are conspiring to prevent the farmers from planting a record breaking, buck-breaking, land impoverishing, price-killing crop of tobacco this year. While we do not believe it is probable that an over production will result this year, if ever again, but such a calamity is possible, especially if the bluegrass counties go tobacco crazy as they did some years ago. If the farmer will be consistent and plant only the usual acreage, or less, sacrifice quantity for quality, he will make more money with less labor and at the same time save his land—Dover News.

Indian's Explanation of the Trinity

There are about five thousand Indians in the Maize-zed district, of whom at least four thousand five hundred are Christians. Sometimes their faith is tested by occasional travelers. A missionary fresh from that Northern territory relates the following of how one Indian explained his faith: "After being ridiculed about his religion for some time by a white man whom he was carrying down the river in a canoe the Indian without a word in reply pushed his canoe alongside the snow-covered ice, dropped his paddle, and taking up his hatchet, heaped the snow, then cut a square in the ice. Lifting out the ice, he exclaimed: 'See! See water, see ice, see snow! Put in kettle, boil, all one. You don't know, I don't know, believe just the same.'"

Quality vs. Quantity

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quality of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia, belching, Sour Stomach, Weak Heart, etc. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for what is sometimes called America's national disease—Dyspepsia—is destined to eventually work a wonderful and lasting benefit to sufferers from this distressing and mind harassing condition. Sold by R. E. McRoberts.

IMPROVING A FARM HOUSE

How to Change a Low, Poorly-Ventilated Building Into a Really Attractive Abode.

About the country are thousands of plain, one-story houses, similar in appearance to that shown in cut. Such houses have low, poorly-ventilated chambers, and are very unattractive in appearance. They can be made much more comfortable to live in, and much more pleasing to the eye, at small expense, by the plan shown.

The wide dormer window will greatly improve the chambers, giving air and light from another side of the house, while enlarging the chamber room. The addition of the veranda in front adds greatly to the appearance of the house.

and will give much added comfort in hot weather. An open veranda at the back will often be found feasible.

Whatever makes one's house more attractive and more comfortable, increases by so much its selling price. If one should wish to sell, for buyers are quick to appreciate these features. So the improvement of the farmhouse becomes a profitable investment, though improvements ought not to hinge upon this, for a man owes it to himself and to his family to make his home as pleasant and as comfortable as possible. —Farm and Home.

PRESERVING FRESH MEATS.

If Canned According to Directions Beef and Pork Can Be Kept for Many Months.

With the following methods the housewife can keep meat from butchering time fresh and sweet for months. The meat should not be long exposed to the air, but used as soon as it is cold and firm. Slice the steak or frying meat, sprinkle the bottom of quart fruit cans freely with salt, pepper and the least perceptible dash of pulverized saltpeter and borax; borax is used freely in meat packing houses. Put in a layer of sliced meat, sprinkle with salt, pepper, etc., as before; fill to within an inch of the top with layers of seasoned meat, pressing each down very firmly, leaving no air spaces. Season the top layer more freely and fill cans to the brim with softened, not melted, lard; hermetically seal, put in paper bags, keep dark and cool. Meat so canned in February was sweet and nice in August.

Cut boiling and baking pieces into small sections, pack in large stone crocks, press down and season as before, but more freely, filling all interspaces with bits of meat dropped in salt. Cover with lard to the depth of an inch; will keep until May or June. Slice side pork, or what is usually kept in brine pickle, fry and season as for present use and pack in large jars, covering as before. Will keep the year around and taste like fried fresh pork. Well seasoned sausage packed in the same manner will keep until early summer. Slice ham from the bones, remove the rind and the dark, rough edges of the slices, pack solidly in jars and cover an inch deep with lard. Will keep indefinitely. Whenever meat is taken from any of these jars, immediately warm the lard, strain and return to the jar.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Generally the smaller the farm the better the cultivation and the greater the profit for the expenditure.

The dirt and sweat which accumulate on the horses during the day should never be allowed to remain on over night.

There are two things a farmer can never have enough of—time to feed, the other is manure. Feed makes manure if fed to stock on the farm.

Time to Select Corn.

The fall of the year is the time to select the seed corn, and this should be stored in a place that will keep dry, and yet not evaporate its moisture too much.

Must Confess Before Execution. In Sweden confession is necessary before capital punishment can be carried out. If, however, the culprit persists in protesting his innocence in the face of overpowering evidence, the prison discipline is made extremely strict and severe until the desired confession is obtained.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. If the kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a light disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Cairo, Ky., writes: "About four years ago I was stricken with a kidney trouble, and after trying every remedy I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. It entirely restored my health, and I am now as well as ever. I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am eternally indebted to you for the cure. I am glad to see that you are still publishing FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE to the benefit of suffering humanity."

Two Sizes, 50c and 1.00.

Cynical. "Which do you think counts for the most in life, money or brains?" "Well," answered Miss Cayenne, "I see so many people who manage to get on with so little of either that I am beginning to lose my respect for both."

A Fair Average. Parson (fishing for compliments)—I am afraid your grace was rather warmed by my sermon this morning.

Bishop—It was rather long, certainly, but as it had neither breadth nor depth, I suppose we have no right to complain. —Ally Sloper.

A Neutral. Mudson—Are you going to write and congratulate Jappings on his marriage? Smartie—Well, no, I think not. You see, I don't know the lady, so that I can't very well felicitate him, and I know him too well to be able to congratulate her. —Ally Sloper.

A Correct Diagnosis. Little Elmer—Papa, what is a perfect gentleman? Prof Broadhead—A perfect gentleman, my son, is a man who, when you start to tell him your troubles, does not break in and try to tell you his. —Puck.

A Raise. "What's your daughter Katie doing?" "She's in a department store." "Is she doing well?" "Oh, yes, she got a raise in salary last week from $1.00 to $1.40." —Yonkers Statesman.

He Was Only a Figure-Head. Harold—Dearest, having gained your consent, I presume I must ask your father's permission. Marie—Father's permission! No, indeed—mother's! —Judge.

Made a Hit, But—Publisher—I can't see anything in that manuscript of yours.

Struggling Author—I presume not; but, you know, some of your readers may be more intelligent. —Tit-Bits.

She'd Made Up Her Mind. Jinks—Is the Rev. Mr. Prabahd going to accept the call to that rich living? Jons—He says that he has not decided yet, but his wife has commenced packing up. —Ally Sloper.

The Scene of the Robbery. Dolly—What? Jack stole something right under her very nose, and she didn't mind? Dick—No, really. It was a kiss. —Puck.

Suspicious. He—I've got a surprise in store for you, dear.

She—All right; but I hope it's not in the five-cent store! —Yonkers Statesman.
